PROFILE

after graduation, I worked as an accountant for 8 years until 2022, but I realized that I am much more interested in Internet technologies, because I love constant development and solving interesting problems. so I quit my job and dedicated a year to learning front-end development.

I am responsible and easily trained person. I have good self-organization skills, and I also work well in a team and am very willing to learn and develop new skills, solve interesting problems
